Presents

GIS: Covering Your Assets with Accurate Utility Mapping

Heard of mapping your utility, but thought it was too complicated to get it done? Mark Butler and Brett Wiedemann, experts in the mapping industry, will walk you through the basics of setting up your utility’s map, and getting started in the field using the best tools available. This course will show how to view and edit your map on a phone or tablet, and how to connect to a GPS unit to take accurate points.

This course is hands-on, participants are encouraged to bring their smartphone or tablet. This course is designed for all utility operators and staff who want to know how to get started mapping their system the right way, right away!

To get the most out of this training, please Bring Your Own Device for use at this workshop: Laptop, Smart Phone, Tablet, etc.
